The DIMMER VIEW

by Max Goodwin

Big Oil Leads the Way —To Nationalization

If our free enterprise system fails, historians may some day trace the key to its undoing to the nation's oil producers of the latter half of the Twentieth Century.

The oil industry, as much as any other force contributes mightily to the inflation wrecking our country today. It has also contributed to people's disenchantment with super big business — firms that take the position that they stand above the law, the government, and of course, the people.

It is amazing how arrogant men can become while they are using the world's resources and at the same time holding people in economic hostage.

Gulf Oil refused to show records of political contributions when ordered to do so. Oil firms generally, induced a shortage to force the government to raise the ceiling on gasoline prices even though tankers, fully loaded, were standing off shore because oil storage tanks were full. Today, oil firms pretend they are seeking new energy sources with the historic profits ground from the wage earner and his family's table. As a matter of fact one oil firm's research and development investment was the purchase of one of the nation's larger mercantile firms.

In San Diego today, Atlantic Richfield Oil cries shortage of gasoline while, at the same time, forcing their dealers to sell more gasoline or lose their franchises.

In this one, Congressman Lionel Van Deerlin has injected his interest. Two San Diego ARCO dealers have been informed by their Big Oil Papa that their franchises will be revoked on April 3 for not staying open all night. This calls for an investigation.

When we talk about the Middle East oil sheiks being our enemy, we are being mis-directed by Big Oil propaganda. American motorists didn't browbeat oil-producing nations. But Big Oil did. They used the same high-handed tactics they've been using on our government and our people.

There is a growing movement afoot in Washington for the government to enter the oil drilling business. They talk about it in ecological terms. That makes it readily acceptable to the people. If Washington was closer to the people it would know that people are mighty sore at Big Oil already. They might even approve a government takeover of Oil.

It would be a sad day if government was forced to nationalize the oil industry. But it would have been forced by Big Oil. It would be another blow against our free enterprise system ironically caused by one of the biggest industries spawned by the system.

Yet, in countries where the industry is nationalized, the problems aren't nearly so disruptive as those brought to this country by Big Oil.

Perhaps a watch-dog committee is needed. Such a group — CALPIRG (California Public Interest Research Group) stems from some of the state's campuses. The group has been able to label lie to outrageous claims and products that some big firms are trying to foist onto the public.

CALPIRG recently reported on foods but is yet to study the oil oligarchy.

Here are excerpts from its food reports. Some of the firms have been accused by government of monopoly and price fixing. It's only a matter of time before oil becomes a study.

Wonder Bread — Plain, ordinary white bread made by Continental Baking, a division of ITT (which also owns Sheraton Hotels and military supplies). Wonder Bread costs up to 30% more than other white breads. The Federal Trade Commission recently accused ITT-Continental of using unfair marketing practices to try to monopolize the baking industry.

Sugar — The Justice Department recently indicted six big sugar refiners for allegedly price-fixing and conspiracy to reduce competition. CALPIRG reminds that sugar contributes to obesity, tooth decay, diabetes and heart disease.

Gerbers Baby Food Desserts — The major ingredient is water — and added sugar. The sugar helps foster the child's sweet tooth. Eating junk baby food may lead to a lifetime path of junk foods and ill health. Gerber controls 60% of the baby food market.

Frute Brute — A breakfast cereal candy containing about 40% sugar and costs $1.40 a pound. The cost, says CALPIRG, does not include dental bills but does include the cost of TV advertising aimed at children. General Mills, symbolized by Betty Crocker, has been the junk breakfast cereal leader for years. Four companies control 90% of the cereal industry.

Bacon — Perhaps, says CALPIRG, the most dangerous food in the supermarket. Bacon contains nitrosamines which the government admits "are a family of chemicals, some of which have been shown to cause cancer in test animals."

Breakfast Squares — Also from Betty Crocker's chemical kitchen. The two main ingredients in this product are sugar and fat. The undesirable effects of these ingredients are not canceled out by the added vitamins and minerals says CALPIRG.

Pringles — Pringles, says CALPIRG, is the ultimate insult to the potato, a terrific vegetable. This reconstituted preserved chip is one third more expensive than regular chips and is at least 13 times more expensive than real potatoes. Long shelf life permits nationwide distribution. Pringles may enable Proctor and Gamble to monopolize the potato chip market.

In California, several conventional potato chip firms have been charged with price fixing and may soon be required to return excess profits to the public.

Coca-Cola — Contains no nutrients; costs more than milk. In under-developed countries where Coca-Cola is sold, it produces nutritional harm, says CALPIRG. The "real thing", says CALPIRG is to get something real, like milk, fruit juice or water.

There are others, but the idea is to show the approach that could be used in the great oil ripoff. And a final thought: Big oil has more benefits and freedom under our system than it would have under any other. You'd think they would want to protect that condition rather than become involved in what appears to an intentional attempt to alienate the American citizenry — unless, of course, Big Oil intends to rule the world!

Seniors, Handicapped Pay 15 Cents

Transit Board OK's 35-Cent Fare Plan

A Monday meeting of the San Diego Transit Corporation board of directors produced a proposal for a 10 fare increase which would affect all riders except senior citizens, handicapped persons and students.

Under the plan, riders age 60 and over, and those with physical handicaps would pay only 15 cents. Student fare would remain at 25 cents. At present, no such discounts are in effect.

The fare proposal goes to the San Diego City Council for consideration.

The special discounts, expansion of 17 existing routes and the inception of nine new routes are expected to increase ridership by 1.3 millions persons, according to a Transit spokesman. The boost is needed to cover a $5.2 million budget increase for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Among the new routes in the expansion project is a line serving the east Spring Valley area for the first time. No information regarding the schedule nor the route has been made public by the Transit planners.

Liquor Store Robbed

While one of two customers "talked" clerk Bruce N. Eskenazi to the back of the store, the other opened the cash drawer and took an estimated $15 at Casa de Oro Liquor store, 9727 Campo rd., in Casa de Oro.

Eskenazi said that he opened the drawer to see what had been taken and noted that the automatic alarm had not been triggered and as a result did not attempt to dissuade the two "customers". He described them as male blacks, one 40 and the other 30 years of age.

Marijuana, Beer Brings Charges Against Three

The Friday night dance at Monte Vista High school proved costly to three young people.

A school security guard hearing noises from a van in the school's parking lot told the occupants to go into the dance or leave the school grounds.

In the discussion which followed, the guard flagged a Sheriff's deputy passing in a patrol car and investigation uncovered 12 cans of beer in the vehicle. Further investigation, officers reported, produced 21 grams of marijuana; two roaches and a package of cigarette papers.

The officers charged John Terry Saba, 18, of 6610 McArthur dr., Lemon Grove, a student, with possession of marijuana and alcoholic beverage.

Also charged were a 17-year old male and a 16-year old female.

The two latter youngsters were handed over to their parents.

Saba will be arraigned in El Cajon Municipal Court.

'Pot' User, 15

A 15-year old Spring Valley youth was arrested Saturday night at 10:25 at Troy and Sweetwater after he was stopped regarding the lateness of the hour by a sheriff's deputy.

Slurred speech and staggering led to a search and the officers uncovered 12 grams of marijuana in his possession.

A 17-year old youth, on probation for possessing marijuana, was not arrested since he had none on his person, the officer said.

Recycle Station Produces $140 -For Robber

An armed robber, a white male, about 25-30 years of age, used a black revolver to take $140 from Rayford Earl Turner, 18, who was operating an Alcoa reclamation and recycling depot at the 7-11 store at 10049 Campo rd. in Casa de Oro Saturday.

McCane will be arraigned in El Cajon Municipal Court.

Property Tax Payments Due April 10th

San Diego County property owners are reminded that they have until April 10 to pay the second installment of their 1974-75 property tax without penalty.

County Tax Collector James E. Jones cautioned that the April 10 deadline should not be confused with April 15, the last day to pay income taxes.

"Each year a few taxpayers confuse these dates," Jones said. "As a result they pay a delinquent penalty."

The penalty for late payment is six per cent of the total installment amount—not an annual rate, Jones warned. A flat $3 for costs is also added to these delinquent payments.

Stubs for second installment payments were attached to tax bills mailed October 15. Additional notices or bills for the second installment will be sent to taxpayers only if they are requested.

Under the law taxpayers are not excused from paying penalties because they did not receive a tax bill.

Unless their taxes are paid by a lending agency, property owners who have not received a tax bill should contact the tax collector's office in the County Administration Center, 1600 Pacific Highway, or call 236-3121.

Dear Editor:

Thanks to your publication, the Broadway Hardware ad was very successful.

Our attempt at humor apparently led to confusion on the part of some people.

The ad read: "FIRST ANNUAL GOING-OUT-OF-BUSINESS SALE CANCELLED FOR LACK OF INTEREST"

Unfortunately, people thought Broadway Hardware was going out of business.

That is far from accurate. Broadway Hardware will be here for at least another twelve years.

Nurserymen Association Gives Word on Annuals

Nothing provides those brilliant splashes of color in the garden as surely as annuals, plants that complete their growth cycle in one year. Now that professional growers do all the hard work for you, all you have to do is set out ready-to-go bedding plants.

Properly selected and planted just where you want them, these generous plants give you flowers on your table all summer and fall—some even in part of the spring—and still keep your garden bright.

According to the California Association of Nurserymen, there are a few things you should take into consideration when you handle these plants.

First, mass them. Plant enough of the same variety to make a showing.

Secondly, use them to brighten those places in the garden where favorite spring-flowering shrubs have stopped flowering. Use them to brighten hedges or other perennial backgrounds.

Hot and Cool Colors

Third, take into consideration the possibilities of their colors. Annuals usually divide into two color groups. There are those strong, "hot" colors —bright reds, yellows and oranges. These will seem to come "right at you" in the garden so they can be planted in the foreground in a small garden. This keeps a garden from seeming smaller than it is.

Others are "cool" colors—the pale yellows, pastels, pinks and clear blues—which tend to give you depth. You can plant them against the back fence, for example, to make your garden seem bigger.

Sun or Shade

Generally speaking, annuals want full sun, but there are some that prefer shade. These can be placed on the northern side of your house, in those narrow strips of shade between houses, or under trees where nothing seems to grow.

If you have limited space around the yard and you want bright splashes of color on the terrace or patio, use containers. Most annuals adapt well to pots, boxes, or even hanging baskets.

The Nurseryman's Association reports that annuals are in abundant supply.

Opera Celebrates 10th Birthday with Debut Opera, 'La Boheme'

The San Diego Opera celebrates its tenth anniversary with a new production of Puccini's opera "La Boheme" on April 9 and 11 at 8 p.m. and April 13 at 2:30 p.m.

The opera, in English, will be presented at the San Diego Civic Theatre.

The San Diego Opera made its debut as an opera producing company in 1965 with "La Boheme", and the opera was again presented in the 1967-68 season.

Set in Paris in 1830, "La Boheme" is a tragic love story, focusing on the everyday problems, the little joys and sorrows of several artists. Puccini's characters are believable, and their story, combined with the tender music, makes this one of the best-loved operas.

Metropolitan Opera Tenor Raymond Gibbs a graduate of San Diego State University, will be featured as the poet Rudolpho. Gibbs appeared in the chorus of the 1965 "La Boheme" presentation and as a supporting cast member in the 1967 production.

A limited number of tickets for the opera are available through the Civic Theatre Box Office, 202 C st., San Diego, 92101. Telephone 236-6510.

CF Prevention Project Examines All Newborns

The newborn baby's first diaper serves as the rallying banner for eight San Diego County hospitals which opened fire March 1 on America's number one genetic child killer — cystic fibrosis.

Every baby born for a year at Bay General, Grossmont, Kaiser, Mercy, Naval, Scripps, Sharp and University hospitals will be given a simple diaper test designed to reveal the presence of the respiratory disease at birth.

The pilot program, funded by the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, is under the direction of Dr. Ivan R. Harwood, Jr., director of the Cystic Fibrosis and Pediatric Pulmonary Disease Center at University Hospital.

Philadelphia, Spokane and Portland, Ore., are also taking part of the program to screen at least 30,000 American newborns. Dr. Harwood expects between 15,000 and 18,000 infants will be studied in San Diego.

The clue to the fatal childhood disease lies in the meconium, the first stool (bowel movement) the infant has after birth. A CF child will have albumin in the stool, which a normal newborn does not. Since the measurable albumin dissipates soon after the newborn starts feeding, it is essential to catch the child's first dirty diaper for the test.

The test consists of covering the tip of a chemically treated stick with stool and placing it into a test tube with distilled water. If albumin is present, the stick will turn blue within 15 minutes.

Cystic fibrosis, a disease of the pancreas, sweat and mucus glands causing severe respiratory and digestive illness, is known to affect at least one in every 1,500 children born, and recent screening of 100,000 newborns in Germany revealed an incidence closer to one in every 1,000 births.

To guard against false positives, newborns who show up as having CF on the diaper test will be given a "sweat test" a week later. This is a more complicated and expensive laboratory procedure based on the fact that cystic fibrosis patients excrete more than the normal amount of sodium and chloride in their perspiration.

A test at birth is a vital step forward in the control of cystic fibrosis, which claims many fatalities at an early age. Permanent lung damage frequently occurs before the age of three, the average age when CF is diagnosed.

Known as "the great imitator", CF masquerades as asthma, allergies and chronic diarrhea, as well as diabetes, bronchitis, whooping cough, tuberculosis and pneumonia. However, the bacteria causing lung infection in CF are different from those present in other illnesses and require different treatment.

If the diagnosis of CF can be made before the symptoms of illness show up, the child can be assured of receiving the specific required treatment as soon as he needs it. In recent years the life span for CF victims has been lengthened in some cases to the teens and twenties.

Early diagnosis will also make it possible to give the parents immediate genetic counseling.

San Diego Girls Star In Horse Show Movie

The world of western horse show competition is the focal point of a new feature length documentary motion picture now in initial stages of production. Entitled "Run for Blue," the film is slated for theater release in the spring of 1976.

San Diego County was selected as the prime locale for the film because this is one of the most active horse showing areas in the country. Dozens of organized shows are conducted here every month during the March to November season. In July, the Southern California Exposition at Del Mar is the site of one of the world's largest horse shows.

According to "Run for Blue" producer/director Art Annecharico, "the film will capture the action and pagentry of the show arena by contrasting three very different kinds of competitors — all females.

Viewers will travel the show circuit with a top level junior rider who is a proven winner in virtually every category of event; an aspiring young trainer working to make a name for herself; and a daredevil 13-year old gymkhana rider."

Annecharico explains, "The basic story thread of 'Run for Blue' is competition. But more specifically, girls in competition. It's obvious that females dominate the show ring. Is there a special kind of magic that happens between girls and horses? We're going to delve into that question in the film because it seems to be a motivating factor behind what makes these girls strive so hard to win . . . to run for those coveted blue ribbons."

All from San Diego County, the three girls to be featured in "Run for Blue" are: Melinda Robb, 17, a championship winner from Rancho Santa Fe; Barbara Bingham, 21, establishing herself as a trainer in Escondido; and Gina Park, 13, of Encinitas, a talented competitor on the local gymkhana circuit.

For Milinda Robb, 1975 will be her last season before moving out of junior level competition. She and her fine string of Quarter Horses have proven themselves as championship material all over the western United States.

In addition to exploring the world of show competition, "Run for Blue" will capture some unusual western events. These action sequences will cover subjects like cowboy polo, professional cow cutting contests, winter chariot racing and bruising all-girl rodeo.

The production crew of Winner Circle Films will cover the full spectrum of horse show competition. Arrangements are now being made for shooting in San Diego County and at events throughout the Western United States.

This Week's RECIPE

Pickled Eggs Will Pucker Up a Party

When planning hors d'oeuvres for that special party, consider that eggs provide a number of different purposes. Hard cooked eggs may be presented on the appetizer tray in halves, quarters or slices. They may be deviled and stuffed. They add delight on canapes with other foods, or alone, sliced or the yolks pressed through a pastry tube in attractive designs. But for a real change of pace and a conversation provoker why not try pickled eggs? They're pretty and practical, too.

PICKLED EGGS

- 2 dozen hard cooked eggs, peeled
- 4 cups distilled white vinegar
- 1 jar (16 oz.) sweet cherry peppers
- 6 cloves garlic, halved
- 3 bay leaves
- 1 teaspoon chopped chives
- 1 teaspoon crushed red pepper
- 1 teaspoon whole peppercorns
- 1 teaspoon whole allspice
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon mustard seed
- ½ to 1 teaspoon turmeric.

Place eggs in glass or ceramic container with cover; add rest of ingredients including juice from peppers. Cover and let stand at least overnight. The eggs will keep without refrigeration up to 1 month but will become increasingly more pungent in flavor.

Serve each egg with at least one pepper. Also good as a change from picnic deviled eggs.

Year-Round School Answers Taxpayer Woes in Carlsbad

The new year-round school system initiated in Carlsbad at the beginning of the present school year was an effort to accommodate for the rapid growth in that community without the added tax burden of furnishing new schools.

The optional year-round system permits an increase of 25 to 33 percent in the school population without overcrowding the present facilities.

Pupils may opt for the traditional school year.

Those in the new program attend classes for approximately two months at one time then receive a three-week vacation, with an extra week thrown in during the summer.

The students have the traditional two-week Christmas vacation and observe all legal holidays. The staggered vacations mean that one-quarter of the students are out of school at any time of the year, and the three schools in the Carlsbad district can now handle the load that would normally require four schools.

Sign-Ups Begin March 31 for S.V. Kindergarten

March 31 is the starting date for kindergarten registration in the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District.

Registration for the 1975-76 school year will be on a first come, first served basis at each of the local elementary schools, according to Associate Superintendent David Pascoe.

State law requires that a child must be five years old on or before December 2 to enter kindergarten. Also, entry depends upon verification of birth and immunization to polio, red measles and diphtheria-pertussis.

Children are advised to register at the school which they expect to attend.

Cake-Bakers Honored At Monterey Heights

A Monterey Heights PTA meeting last week saw father-child baker teams awarded a silver dollar in five categories of competition in a cake-baking contest. Winners were, for the prettiest cake, Laurie Domingo; most imaginative, Mike Friend; most original, Patty Meier; and funniest, Mary Meier. Honorable mention went to Joseph and Thomas Novak.

New PTA officers for the 1975-76 school year were reviewed and elected at the meeting.

Temple Exercises Demonstrated at College Grove

The series devoted to "Chinese Medicine, Massage and Meditation" presented by Grossmont College continues at 1:30 and 7 p.m., Tuesday, in the College Grove Shopping Center Community Hall, when Greg Calvert and Juliette Mondot discuss and demonstrate Chinese temple exercises.

The program features exercises used by monks in the temples of ancient China. The exercises are said to restore full body circulation within minutes after long periods of sitting meditation through slow fluid body movements. The exercises are said to be effective for centering, relaxing and revitalizing the body.

The free demonstration is open to the public.

Citizens Group Would Bring Neighbors Together

The Citizen's Advisory Committee for Monterey Heights Elementary School is scheduling coffees in different neighborhoods to help acquaint parents and neighbors with each other.

Theory behind the committee is that people are much more apt to help correct problems in their neighborhoods and schools if they know they aren't the only ones who care, according to Chairman Estelle Lauer. Ultimately, the plan is to have parents participate in tutoring and general volunteer contact work with children and teachers.

Anyone wanting to help can call the committee chairman at 463-9069.

Vezie Ends Season With Plus Seven

San Diego State closed the 1974-75 basketball season with a loss Saturday afternoon in Tempe, Arizona, but the season was anything but a loser for the Aztecs.

Under first year head coach Tim Vezie, the Aztecs finished the year with a 14-13 record which is seven more wins than last season. Vezie took the Aztecs to the NCAA University Division Playoffs for the first time ever, but the team came up on the short end of a 90-80 score at the hands of 14th rated Nevada (Las Vegas).

Against Las Vegas Saturday in the NCAA's Pre-Regional Tournament, the Aztecs started four juniors and a sophomore. Sophomore Will Connelly had one of his top games of the season, scoring a game high 25 points and grabbing 12 rebounds.

Steve Copp played a fine game, hitting for 16 points and grabbing a game high 17 rebounds. Bob Kovach and Ray Leary were the other Aztecs in double figures with 10 points.

San Diego State didn't play a senior in the game and Vezie is obviously optimistic about next season. "I'm terribly disappointed in the loss to Las Vegas, but we'll be back next year," Vezie promised. "We didn't play a senior and we have a great club coming back. If we can get a couple of key people, this team will be really something.

AMA Steeplechase Is Weekend Fare

GARDENA — Fresh from his big victory in the Daytona 200, Gene Romero of San Luis Obispo will race in the American Motorcycle Association Pacific Coast Regional TT steeplechase at Ascot this Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m.

The former national champion, who moved into second in the 1975 AMA point race in Florida, rides his own Yamaha on Ascot's dirt this week even though he's a member of the Yamaha factory team for the big road events.

Although the Ascot Feature scores points for the regional point fund only this week, Romero will be matched against Mark Williams of Springfield, Ore., the 1975 AMA leader as well as the 1974 season champion in the region.

Williams, as a factory Norton rider this year, grabbed the lead in the rich Camel pro series at the Houston Astrodome with third and fourth-place finishes in the two nationals there. He missed the Daytona race, but he decided to make the other road events to stay in the national title chase.

The Ascot weekend schedule:

Fri., Mar. 21 — AMA motorcycles, amateur TT steeplechase, 8 p.m.

Sat., Mar. 22 — Motocross (SAM Super Bowl qualifier), 1 p.m.

Sun., Mar. 23 — AMA motorcycles, TT steeplechase, Pacific Coast regional championship, 2 p.m.

Palm Jr. High PTA Meets Tonight

Palm Junior High's PTA will present this year's student "Quiz Show", following a business meeting tonight at the school.

The public is invited to watch the students compete in the annual event. Election of officers and a vote on the by-laws are on the meeting agenda.

Bees Endangered?

The honey bee may some day be on the endangered species list, reports the University of California's Davis Extension. The number of bee colonies in the state is at a 23-year low according to State Department of Food and Agriculture figures. Pesticides are mostly to blame for the decline, according to a U.C. apiculturist.

Mariners Play Tonight; Six Home Games Remain

Paced by three record-breaking performances from center Andre Lacroix, the World Hockey Assn. San Diego Mariners begin their next-to-last home stand of the 1974-75 season tonight when the team hosts the Chicago Cougars. It will be one of the team's six final home games.

The Cougar meeting is followed by San Diego Sports Arena contests with Indianapolis, Saturday, and Vancouver, Sunday, with all three games starting at 7:30 p.m.

Lacroix, rated as one of the premiere candidates for WHA most valuable player honors, set his third league mark of the season last week by picking up his 81st assist in a game with Toronto. His effort overtook the former standard of 80 which he set last year.

Lacroix has already shattered WHA records for assists in consecutive games and points in consecutive games.

Still in the running for a post-season playoff berth, the Mariners must take at least two games in the three-game stand this week.

San Diego is locked with Minnesota and Edmonton as the three teams in the running for the WHA's two wild-card playoff spots.

Playoff Format

Under the WHA's playoff format, the first two teams in each of the league's three divisions automatically qualify for the playoffs. The final two spots given to the clubs with the next highest points, regardless of division. Therefore, it is possible for San Diego and Minnesota, both Western Division teams, to gain the two sports.

San Diego, however, would like to erase some doubt by passing Minnesota in the standings. Two or three winning efforts this week might do the job.

Besides the performance of Lacroix to help their chances, the Mariners look to winger Wayne Rivers, closing in on a 50-goal campaign, and winger Rick Sentes. Together, this trio is the second highest scoring front line in the WHA.

San Diego has bolstered its roster for the stretch run by acquiring center Joe Hardy from Indianapolis. Hardy, a 59-points producer with Chicago last year, was traded by the Cougars to Indianapolis in December.

Hardy reported to San Diego in Chicago. The Mariners will trade winger Ted Scharf to the Racers following the playoffs as a completion of the deal.

MONY TofC Lists April Tournament

CARLSBAD — Because of Johnny Miller's fantastic tournament victory domination in the last 15 months, one would expect a lonely foursome to play in the MONY (Mutual of New York) Tournament of Champions at the La Costa Resort Hotel, Spa & Country Club.

To be sure, the MONY T of C is the most exclusive tournament in the country because only winners of major events in the past 12 months since the last MONY T of C are eligible to compete. Still, it isn't that exclusive.

In fact, tournament chairman Allard Roen has announced that 27 players — two more than the entire field last year — are eligible for the run at the $40,000 first prize.

The 23rd annual $200,000 elite event will be played April 24-27.

As usual, the tournament is assured of a stellar field. Qualifiers include defending champion Johnny Miller (who else?), four-time winner Jack Nicklaus, three-time winner Gene Littler, PGA champ Lee Trevino, Masters and British Open winner Gary Player, U.S. Open champ Hale Irwin, Trojans Dave Stockton and Al Geiberger, rookie Victor Regalado of Tijuana and San Diego, Buddy Allin, Dave Hill, Hubert Greene, Jim Colbert, Bobby Nichols, Miller Barber, J. C. Snead and Bob Murphy.

Miller called his triumph here one of his most satisfying victories.

"I spotted the first-round leader nine shots (he shot 75 to Allin's 66) and never thought I'd win. I never led the tournament until the final hole. It's a gratifying accomplishment to beat the best — all the champions," Miller said.

TAKE FIVE

by John Wirges

It's a basic fact of life. Survival. Ever since do-it-yourself divorce laws came into being, attorneys have been turning over rocks searching for new business to replace their anti-marriage mills and its rich rewards.

It may seem a strange place for lawyers to find comfort, but Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, a former Bruin who used to be Louis Alcindor, may have opened the athletic arena to jurisprudence.

Louis Kareem, as UCLA's Johnny Wooden fondly refers to his former star pupil, wants the right of free speech extended to the cage court.

Jabbar suffers under the yoke of rule imposed on all its young millionaires by the National Basketball Association. One of tthe NBA's Commandments reads, "Thou Shalt Not Take The Name Of Thy Official In Vain, Nor Shall Ye Call Him An S.O.B."

Louis Kareem takes issue with that rule. He said he'd sick the American Civil Liberties Union on the NBA to fight for his right to free speech.

In addition, Abdul-Jabbar has a beef with NBA referee Jerry Loeber. Despite what he knew would be a stiff fine, Abdul-Jabbar said a bunch of unkindnesses about Loeber last week. He took his cuts after his Milwaukees took it on the chops from Golden State, with, he charged, an assist from the ref.

"Loeber," cried Kareem, "sets a standard for ineptitude for referees that is unequaled. I think he is unqualified to be an official in this league." He added a bunch of other stuff, like: "He stinks," "This is for quotes," and invited lawyers in with, "I may need an attorney."

In time Kareem and the NBA will come to an understanding, probably with the parting of considerable cash from Abdul-Jabbar's heavily laden coffers. He'll pay, and then he'll play, just as if nothing happened.

But he opened the door to legaldom. He invited 'em in. And the entrance of attorneys to advise and defend players in confrontations with umpires and referees and other judgment types, could change the world of fun and games more than it has been changed already by the almighty buck.

Can't you just see it. Picture an NFL official firing his flag at a late hit on kick-off return. The violating linebacker yells, "Objection."

Time is called as his lawyer hustles in from the sidelines with an injunction preventing the official from hasselin' his client.

"Five yards for the late hit," rules the sideline Judge, "And 10 yards for vicious officiating."

Too much for you? Try this. National League Umpire Doug Harvey fights to maintain his cool during a Padre-Dodger scrimmage, while lawyers from both sides engage in a knock down battle.

Let's say Padre Pitcher Bill Grief comes in high and tight on Steve Garvey. And why not? It's his best pitch.

"Ball," announces Harvey to Garvey, sprawled in the dirt.

"Objection on the grounds the slob aimed at my ear," yells Garvey.

"We file for an injunction to prevent high and tight pitches," says the Dodgers' attorney, waving a fistful of official looking papers.

"We file for a counter-injunction to prevent Dodger batters from leaning over the plate," responds the Padres' mouthpiece, waving a fistful back.

"We shall have a hearing immediately after the side is properly retired, if, in fact, the issue is not resolved before then," rules Harvey, who like all umpires, will have to become masters of law, as well as baseball rule books.

Let the point become moot with Garvey singling in the winning run.

The important thing is . . . it could happen. In this day of charges and counter-charges or ineptitude in officialdom, playerdom, and ownerdom, lawyers could (and would) make a fine living in professional sports.

It's really a serious matter, but it does have its funny side.

Like: who could maintain a proper court room decorum watching 6-foot, 4-inch, 230 pound umpire Lee Weyer racing down the foul line to judge a ball fair or foul . . . and falling flat on his judgment tripping over the hem of his long black robe.

Oh, Kareem baby, what kind of bag of worms are you opening?

Cactus Schedule Smiles On Padres This Spring

The schedule makers have been kind to the San Diego Padres this spring. A year ago the club was called upon to make four long tiresome trips over to the central Phoenix area for Cactus League encounters.

This season the club will go over for only one extended trip beginning Friday and then go back for just a short two-day jaunt near the end of the exhibition season.

The Padres will open a seven-day swing on Friday with a game against the three-time defending World Champions, the Oakland A's, in Mesa. From there the Pads will test the Giants in Phoenix on Saturday, the Chicago Cubs in Scottsdale on March 23 and the Giants again in Phoenix on Monday.

Tucson will be the site of the next two outings as the Padres will bus 120 miles south for March 25 and 26 matchups with the Cleveland Indians. The Milwaukee Brewers will provide the opposition for the final game of the trip on March 27 in Sun City.

"This season's schedule appears to be much more conducive to better play," said manager John McNamara. "Last season it seemed we were always traveling whether it be to Tucson, Phoenix or coming back to Yuma. The way the schedule stacks up this year we'll have a chance to establish ourselves a 'single home base' on the road and go through a more orderly routine."

22 Pitchers

Due to the exceptionally large number of pitchers in camp, 22 in all, the Padres have worked up possibly their heaviest schedule of 'B' games in their seven-year history.

With the schedule still to be completed, McNamara has lined up six 'B' games plus an extended game with the Oakland A's.

Two contests took place last week during the Padres first Yuma home stand with the others set for March 22 and 24 against the Giants in Phoenix, March 27 against the Brewers in Sun City and March 29, again with the Giants, but this time in Yuma. The game with Oakland on Friday probably will go an extra three innings in order to get more players in the game.

"There is something we really feel we need," said McNamara. "We have so many pitchers in camp that we've got to get in as many games as possible in order to get a good look at everyone. We don't want to cut anyone based on just one outing. What we'd like is to get at least three competitive looks at the pitchers before we start making any decisions."

"Actually, the same thing can be said about some of the other players as we've got some good fights going on for some of the backup in utility spots," summed up the second-year skipper.

PAD-POURRI — The Padres final TV game of the exhibition season will be on Saturday, March 29, against the San Francisco Giants in Yuma. The game will be seen at 8 p.m. that same evening, on XETV, Channel 6.

Cajon Speedway Open House

Cajon Speedway will open its 14th auto racing season April 12, Earl Brucker, track operator said this week.

A no-charge Open House event had been set for April 5 for fans to watch drivers test equipment in an all-day session.

Brucker said another season in which more than 100,000 fans will attend the Saturday night-April-October schedule is anticipated.

Regular programs are scheduled during April with a powder puff race on April 26.

Qualifying time is 6:30; first race is at 8 p.m.

Ali, Norton Headline Closed Teevee Fights

"This is my shot at the pie in the sky, the brass ring, the Heavyweight Championship of the World," challenger Chuck Wepner said this week. "I'm not going to blow it."

Wepner, the American Heavyweight Champion, fights Ali March 24, from the Cleveland Coliseum, 15 rounds.

The bout will be seen on closed-circuit television along with the 12-round title elimination fight between leading contenders: Jerry Quarry and Ken Norton.

"I'll be like a man fighting for his life," Wepner said, "It is my life, and my family's, too. When you get right down to it, it's a matter of basics. For me, it's survival, man against man and the winner gets it all."

Although billed as the preliminary bout to the World Heavyweight Championship match, the Jerry Quarry-Ken Norton heavyweight elimination bout could provide more excitement, according to Lou Lake, local promoter.

Quarry, ranked No. 3 by the World Boxing Assoc., will face No. 5-ranked Norton in a 12-round bout from New York City's Madison Square Garden.

The bout will be televised via closed circuit to the Sports Arena, beginning at 6:30 p.m., followed by the Ali-Wepner 15-rounder from Cleveland, Ohio.

Quarry, bringing a 49-7-4 into the fight, has won 29 victories by knockout. His latest fight was February 25 when he won a 10-round decision over George "Scrap Iron" Johnson in Honolulu. Norton, a 31-3-0 slugger with 24 knockouts, demolished Reco Brooks in the first round March 5 at Oklahoma City.

Both Fought Ali

Both sluggers have faced Ali, reigning champion, with Quarry losing on both occasions, while Norton has won (March 31, 1973) and lost (September 10, 1973) to Ali.

Both are 29-years-old, weighing an estimated 210 lbs., with Norton having a seven inch advantage in reach over Quarry.

Under his manager-trainer Gil Clancy, Quarry made a strong comeback after he lost the first Ali fight on a cut eye in the third round. He began with a knockout over Randy Neumann and followed with victories over Ron Lyle, James J. Woody, Doyle, Joe Alexander and George Johnson.

Norton, a San Diego product, vaulted into international prominence with his defeat of Ali, and, later, his split-decision loss. The ex-Marine is noted as one who can punch and box, and the 29-year-old made his acting debut recently for Paramount Picture's "Mandingo", due for release next month.

Trained by Bill Slayton, Norton is rated a favorite over Quarry, but both sluggers will fight toe-to-toe and are not orthodox fighters.

Lou Lake, local promoter of the double-header match, said today tickets are still available for $12.50, $10.50 and $8.50.

Padres Tickets 2-1 at C.G.S&L

College Grove Central Federal Savings and Loan Assn. manager Sally DeLong has opened the institution's Padre baseball season with a two-for-one ticket offer for the April 10 San Francisco Giants game.

She said visitors to the concourse-level office may purchase two plaza-level adult Padre tickets to the 7:30 p.m. tilt for the $3.50 price of one admission.

In addition, the local Central Federal is accepting application from men and women 60 years of age and older for the association's Senior Padre Club.

Club membership entitles men and women 60 years of age and older to general admission for six selected Sunday afternoon Padre games for a $3 membership fee. The schedule includes two doubleheaders.

Opening its 14th office at 10488 Clairemont Mesa blvd. in Tierrasanta on March 31, Central Federal is the largest federally-insured savings and loan exclusively serving San Diego county.

Gillman Comes Home As Football Scribe

Sid Gillman, whose 20-year professional coaching career was capped by being named last year's American Football Conference Coach of the Year, has joined Inside Football Report as executive director.

The announcement was made jointly by Gillman, who last year coached the Houston Oilers to a 7-7 season, and Jordan Lansky, San Diego advertising executive and publisher of Inside Football Report.

Inside Football Report supplies a wide variety of publishable material concerning the National Football League games and its players.

The material includes in-depth scouting reports on each game, feature articles and illustrated items of general interest. In its first year, Inside Football Report served fourteen newspapers with a total circulation of more than 3.5 million.

Lansky said that Gillman primarily will be involved in sales and marketing and will travel extensively to serve present clients as well as to develop new subscribers.

"Sid Gillman's wealth of experience in professional football represents a significant addition to Inside Football Report," Lansky said. "He's certainly one of the best known and highly regarded football figures in the country and we welcome his decision to join our organization."

Chargers Coach 10 Years

Gillman, whose first professional coaching assignment was with the Los Angeles Rams and who subsequently spent ten seasons as head coach of the San Diego Chargers, said that he will move from Houston to San Diego.

It's a wonderful opportunity for me," he said. "The potential growth of Inside Football Report is unlimited and I'm indeed fortunate to be a part of the action. And, I'm coming home."

Although Gillman will continue his sales and marketing activities once the NFL season starts, he also is expected to participate in the development of editorial content for Inside Football Report.

"Sid will suggest story ideas, help set up specific coverage and assist in developing special material as part of our weekly service," Irv Grossman, Inside Football Report Editor, said.

Last year, Inside Football Report employed more than 30 NFL correspondents and assigned articles to more than two dozen feature writers. Editorial offices are in San Diego.

Hernandez in Test Friday at Coliseum

Lightweight Rudy Hernandez, in his first main-go, has notched 15 consecutive victories in his 10 month career as a professional fighter. He will face his roughest test Friday night in the 10-round battle at the Coliseum.

The test will be against durable Gene Prado who has amassed a record of 12 straight victories.

Hernandez' most impressive performance was against previously undefeated Gerald Robinson when Hernandez decked him in the eighth round.

Prado is a rugged-type fighter, respected as a dangerous puncher. Of Prado's dozen wins, 9 have been via the KO route.

Next week, on that week only, Promoter Mickey Davies has booked his weekly card for Wednesday because of Good Friday. After that, fights resume on Fridays.

But the Wednesday night card will be anything but a dud. Mike Mayon, scheduled for an up-coming fight versus Jimmy Heair will have his hands full against Jose Peterson of Miami Beach. Peterson is a protege of Angelo Dundee, Muhammad Ali's chief trainer. He has fought Ken Buchana former world lightweight champ and Bruno Arcarim former junior welterweight champ. He lost to both but he won, by knockouts, over Frankie Ortero, current North American lightweight champion and Clemente Mucino, top Mexican lightweight.

Last Week

Last week Jimmy Heair won a unanimous lightweight decision over Centavito Hernandez. Heair had his opponent bleeding about the face from mid-fight — but it was no walkaway. Heair suffered stabbing right crosses and damaging left jabs in close quarters confrontations. Heair was trying to put his opponent away but Hernandez was too tough.

In other battles Art Roddy registered a TKO over middleweight Freddy Gilbert at 2:54 of the third; Fernando Jones KO'd Curt Young at 2:50 of the fourth round of a heavyweight bout and James Jackson was the unanimous winner over David Lopez in a welterweight brawl.

Opening gong is 8:15 Friday and next Wednesday.

USAC Midgets At South Bay

One of the hottest young properties in the fast-moving world of automobile racing, Chuck Gurney of Stockton heads a list of four drivers inked by J. C. Agajanian for his eight-event USAC National Championship Midget races at the South Bay Park Speedway Saturday night at 8:30 p.m.

Joining Gurney for the eight-event program on the ½-mile clay oval are Bob DeJong of Fremont, Larry Patton of Anaheim, and Greg Staab of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Gurney is in his second season of USAC competition, and looks to be one of the next young stars to break into big-time racing. He got his first USAC Championship Car ride at Phoenix last Sunday.

Last year, his first on the tough USAC circuit, he finished eleventh in the USAC Midget division and twelfth in the Sprint Cars against the nation's top drivers.

Consumer Affairs Lists Cautions on Tax Preparers

The State Department of Consumer Affairs offers the following tips to individuals dealing with income tax preparers:

- Always ask what it will cost you in advance. Make sure the fee includes all of the schedules for both federal and state forms.
- Never sign blank forms. Make sure that your preparer signs your returns and includes a year-round address; it is required by law.
- Obtain copies of all prepared documents—you are entitled to them.

If problems arise write to Consumer Affairs Tax Preparer, Box 310, Sacramento, California 95802.

Nielsen Deplores S.C. Ruling on Mandatory Retirement

Stan J. Nielsen, Acting Director of the California Office on Aging, has voiced concern over the impact of the recent U. S. Supreme Court ruling upholding the mandatory retirement age of 70 for federal employees, calling it "regrettable."

"The impact of this decision," he said, "can only reinforce those forces in our society which are already forcing older people into spiritual, social, and economic poverty."

California government's mandatory retirement age is even lower at 67.

"We are a terribly long way in this country from the kind of utopian retirement everyone dreams of but rarely realizes," he said, "and the cost to society of consigning older Americans to reduced incomes and isolation from the working community is beyond calculation."

Nielsen said he recognizes that today's economic uncertainties and high rates of unemployment tend "to bolster the misguided notion that older workers should just get out of the way and leave the jobs for men and women with kids to raise; but that assumes old workers can afford to 'get out of the way' and it assumes that society and the economy can continue to bear the burden of large numbers of highly talented and qualified individuals who are forced into inactivity.

"Taxes are never going to drop if we just keep throwing away some of our most valuable human resources every time they accumulate a given number of years."

Identification Asked For Transplant Donors

SACRAMENTO — Accident victims desiring to donate parts of their bodies for transplant purposes must be recognized quickly.

Every minute wasted in identifying these persons lessens the chances for a successful transplant operation using the accident victims' donated organs to aid the living.

Senator Dennis E. Carpenter has introduced a bill to insure quick recognition of organ donors who become accident victims.

The bill, SB 542, would require the Department of Motor Vehicles to design a distinctive method of marking the drivers' licenses of persons who have stated their desire to donate all or part of their bodies in accordance with the Uniform Anatomical Gift Act. The Department would also be required to give wide publicity to the new license marking program.

"Presently, an accident victim may have been dead for hours before authorities go through their personal effects and discover an anatomical donor card authorizing use of parts of the victim's body for transplant purposes," said Senator Carpenter.

"By then, it's usually too late", he said. "With some distinctive device on the driver's license, a decal perhaps, the donor would be immediately recognized and appropriate actions could be taken."

Deaf Ask IRS Questions Via TV-Telephone

The Internal Revenue Service has inaugurated a pilot, toll-free "TV-phone" system to assist deaf and hearing-impaired taxpayers in Southern California. The service began March 5.

The TV-phone has a typewriter keyboard attached to a regular telephone. The typed message appears on a TV monitor screen at the other end of the telephone line. Any TV set can be connected with the system.

The IRS' Los Angeles District, comprising the 12 Southern California counties, was selected for the pilot program, said district director William Connett, because of the large number of deaf persons in the area. He estimates that there are more than 780,000 deaf people living in Southern California.

The TV-phone device allows a deaf or hearing-impaired taxpayer to get answers to his federal tax questions without the use of speech. Deaf persons may ask their tax questions by using the units installed at 11 IRS offices or they may use their own TV-phones at home. Several organizations and churches in the area also have similar machines for use by deaf members.

To ask a question, the taxpayer dials a toll-free number and places the receiver in a cradle on the keyboard unit. The call is answered by an IRS taxpayer service representative in the agency's East Branch Office at El Monte, who greets the taxpayer by typing out words which are transmitted to the taxpayer's television screen. The two then communicate via the TV screen and the typewriter.

"We believe the IRS is the first federal agency to experiment with the machine," Connett said.

TV-phone unit in this area is at the Mission Valley Financial Center, 591 Camino de La Reina, in San Diego.

Silberman Heads Bank

The Board of Directors of Southern California First National Bank has named Richard T. Silberman president-elect effective April 23.

Silberman, 45, became president of Southern California First National Corporation, the San Diego-based, one-bank holding company, November 15, 1974.

"Inasmuch as First National Bank accounts for 90 per cent of corporate revenues, the Board has decided to operate the corporation and the bank with one chief executive as was the case until 1972," Alden W. Johnson, board chairman, said.

Silberman will assume his additional duties at the organizational meeting of Directors following SCFNC's annual meeting of shareholders to be held at 2 p.m., April 23, according to Johnson.

E. G. Cunningham, 38, president of the bank since February, 1973, was named executive vice president for finance of the corporation, Johnson said.

CONSERVATIONISTS EARN PRAISE — Carl Lacki, Lemon Grove Bank of America manager, presents certificates of recognition to Jim Justeson, Lemon Grove School District; Hal Brogan, Palm Jr. High principal; and Mike Calderone, Monterey Heights teacher. The citations were presented to all Lemon Grove School district schools for their help in raising a statewide total of $18,000 for a save-the-poppy project. Lemon Grove school children raised $227.60 of that amount.

BoA Lauds Poppy Planters

Students at elementary and junior high schools in Lemon Grove and Spring Valley were presented a special conservation week award last week by Bank of America for helping to preserve the state flower, the California poppy.

Students joined thousands throughout the state to help establish what the youngsters call "Poppy Park", a wildflower preserve near Lancaster. The statewide total raised was $18,000 which, combined with a matching BoA grand, purchased 72 acres of poppies and other wildflowers for the park. Funds were raised by students through a variety of projects such as setting up recycling centers and developing posters. films and songs to help spread the word about conservation.

The California State Park Foundation coordinates the statewide fund raising effort.

Receiving the special award were students of the Lemon Grove and La Mesa-Spring Valley School Districts.

United Way Set Citation Dinner

The first annual dinner meeting of the United Way East County District Board will be held on Wednesday, April 2 at Carlton Oaks Country Club in Santee.

Highlight of the evening will be the presentation of 1974 United Way/CHAD campaign citations to East County individuals, organizations and business firms.

Lemon Grove banker Robert L. Guest will serve in the meeting as program chairman and master of ceremonies.

During the business portion of the meeting, Nat Eggert of El Cajon will be installed as 1975 district board chairman. Other officers and board members will be introduced and installed.

Invitations have been mailed to some two hundred and fifty people for this affair which starts at 6 o'clock with a social hour.

Jamul 4-H Girl is Diamond Star Nominee

Theresa Nierodzinski of the Jamul Chaparros 4-H Club was nominated a Diamond Star candidate to represent San Diego County in the Regional Judging, June 13 at Riverside.

The "Diamond Star" is a state recognition selected from 4-H candidates from each county. Theresa is one of three San Diego candidates who enter the regional competition in June.

Six Diamond Stars will be named in August to represent the state for 1975.

Other county candidates were Diana Harvey of Encinitas and Janelle Wood of Lakeside.

The candidates were announced at the Hi 4-H Dance at the Drew Ford Rotunda in La Mesa, March 8.

BoA Cuts Energy by 58 Million Kilowatts

Bank of America says it cut electrical consumption in 1974 by 58,000,000 kilowatt hours or the amount of electricity needed to serve 19,400 homes for a whole year.

The bank made the reduction under an energy conservation program, administered and monitored by employees in each of its offices throughout California.

The electrical cutback doubles the bank's goal.

Under the program, the bank eliminated exterior lighting at more than 1000 community offices in the state, reduced interior lighting and the use of air conditioning units.

The bank said it also used 30,000 fewer gallons of gasoline by observing lower speed limits and minimizing auto travel in 1974.

In all, the energy conserved by Bank of America last year equaled the energy generated by 91,000 barrels of oil. it said.

Vitamin C: Preventive Or Poison?

Vitamin C. What will it do for you? How much should you take? Does it or doesn't it prevent or cure a cold? These are some of the questions that have been debated in living rooms and laboratories, and on radio and television talk shows. Along with other vitamins, Vitamin C has become the subject of considerable controversy and comment in the past decade. And, while the questions go on, millions of Americans are buying Vitamin C supplements, believing they will benefit from them.

According to the Food and Drug Administration, many of the questions being debated are still unanswered. A free copy of What About Vitamin C?, which discusses the pros and cons, may be had by writing Consumer Information, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

The most talked about question concerning Vitamin C relates to Nobel Prize winner Linus Pauling, who took the position that Vitamin C in the proper amount can help decrease the incidence and severity of the common cold and related infections.

Most nutritionists and physicians found Dr. Pauling's conclusions lacking scientific validity. FDA reports other studies done recently which indicate that Vitamin C might be beneficial in reducing the severity of colds or the length of time the symptoms persist.

For consumers who are concerned about whether or not to take massive doses of Vitamin C, FDA's advise is, "Wait and see. There may be benefits; there may be risks."

FDA terms it reasonable to assume that Vitamin C in amounts specified as the Recommended Daily Allowance will be enough to prevent disease and to maintain health. Also, there are many sources of Vitamin C already in the diet. Vegetables and fruits — especially citrus fruits — provide the greatest amounts.

Out-of-Work Figure Climbs in February

California's Employment Development Department reported March 7 that the total unemployment in February was 975,000—up 90,400 from January. The unemployment rate rose by three-tenths of one percent to a new high of 9.4 percent. The previous high in recent years was 9.3 percent in May, 1971.

Lots of Beef

Beef is heading into its sixth consecutive month of record large supply. Prices to consumers continue to decline slowly while prices to cattlemen remain at depressed levels.

High feed costs and low cattle prices are responsible for the unprofitable returns to cattle producers over the past 15-16 months. According to marketing specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, supplies of beef will continue plentiful during March.

Week for Wildlife

"We Care About Wildlife Habitat" is the theme for the 38th National Wildlife Week, observed this week. The theme focuses on the vital relationship that exists between animals and their means of survival, according to the National Wildlife Federation, sponsors of the annual observance.

Autos Proliferate

A total of 16,248 motor vehicles and trailers were registered in California at the end of 1974, an increase of 428,664 over 1973.

Survey Shows 2 to 1 Approval of Solid Waste Recycling

Environmental protection, particularly from land and water pollution, seems to be a major local concern according to a recent solid waste survey of County citizens.

"Given a choice of disposing of their solid wastes in an industrial type recycling plant or a sanitary landfill, respondents preferred, by a two to one ratio, the industrial disposal plant," said Clarence Kaufman, Program Manager of the County/City solid Waste Management Task Force.

Sixty-three per cent favored an industrial plant because it would recycle usable materials, provide a source of energy, and be a sensible solution to disposal.

A solid waste disposal and resource recovery plant of this type is being planned in El Cajon.

Student Dental X-ray Costs You $2.50

Individuals interested in utilizing this special service should obtain a written request from their dentist. X-ray pictures will be processed and forwarded to the requesting dentist for evaluation and treatment as appropriate.

Appointments for X-rays may be obtained by calling the Dental Assisting Office, 465-1700, Ext. 339 between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Trepte Is Low Bidder In Levy Expansion Job

Teevee Panel To Talk About Teen Alcoholics

More teenagers than ever are becoming alcoholics. Why alcohol? Why teenage alcohoics? A discussion on KGTV, Channel 10, Sunday at 10:30 p.m. attempts to answer these questions and more.

Two teenage alcoholics, Lori Gottschalk and Paul Cleary, reveal how they became hooked by liquor and became well again. Liquor is easier to obtain than marijuana and carries less legal risk than grass. Increasing fatalities due to driving when drinking and therapy geared to teenagers resolving their problems with alcohol are aspects of the compex problem.

Dr. Thomas Rusk, M.D., and Micki Vito, Youth Project Director, National Council on Alcoholism for San Diego, discuss their experiences counseling teenage alcoholics. Dale Schwartz, KGTV-10 reporter and news anchorman moderates the discussion.

CAR Opposes Rent Control Bill

The California Association of Realtors has voiced strong opposition to a rent control bill which will be heard next month before a state senate committee.

Richard C. Farrer, head of the 78,000-member organization, commented that the measure, Senate Bill 123, falsely alleges that there is a serious public emergency affecting rental housing.

Farrer asserts that rent has increased less than half as much as the cost of living, and that, therefore, no emergency exists.

The bill, authored by David Roberti (D-Hollywood), would permit any city to establish a system of rent control for existing residential property subject to administrative process. Additionally, the bill would prohibit termination of tenancy under certain conditions and require rent control office approval for all terminations or evictions.

SB 123 is scheduled to be heard April 8 in the Senate Committee on Judiciary.

Two young men who were patrons Thursday of the Paint Box, 8251½ Broadway in Lemon Grove, not only obtained a figurine, which they paid for, but took $45 from a cash drawer as well.

Norma Jean Stauter, the clerk, said one of the suspects asked for the use of the rest room. During this distraction the other got to the money. She didn't realize that the money was missing until after they had left, she told sheriff's deputies.

Anglers' Best Fish Story Wins Ireland Fishing Trip

The 1975 Gladding Fishing Tall Tales Contest winner will fish the lakes, streams, and coastline of Ireland with a full "fitting out" of fishing equipment to field-test against wily Irish trout and other species.

The contest is sponsored by the trustees of the Gladding International Sport Fishing Museum, South Otselic, N.Y., to emphasize the role of fishing in our national culture and folklore and to stress the need for increased sportfishing conservation efforts.

Contest deadline is June 1.

Trip to Ireland

The angler who spins the best fishing tale will win a round trip to Ireland via Irish Airlines and a week's stay at the Waterville Lake Hotel in Kerry. He'll have the chance to fish and enjoy some of the world's most beautiful scenery.

The lucky angler will have the company of one of America's top outdoor writers, winner of a separate tall tales contest. He'll also win a complete set of fishing equipment compliments of the sponsors.

No formal entry blanks are required, but entries must be legible and contain name, address and telephone number.

Send entries to: Gladding Fishing Tall Tales Contest, P. O. Box 586, Back Bay Annex, Boston, Mass. 02117.

The Gladding museum trustees made an impressive beginning toward amassing the "World's Greatest Collection of Fishing Tales" last year when thousands of anglers revealed secrets of success.

Tall Tales

For example, Ralph Dine of Burlington, N. C. saw his friend, Charlie, dipnetting fish after fish from a river bend. Puzzled, he asked Charlie about his success and Charlie explained that he would drop a package of his wife's laundry starch in the river. The starch made the tails of the fish going downstream so stiff that the big ones couldn't negotiate the bend. When they returned downstream, he easily caught them.

Hefty Silhouette

Then there was the fellow who caught a lunker so huge that by the time it was dragged to the local weighing shed, the fish was reduced to a skeleton. Even the skeleton was too big to get into the shed, so they weighed the shadow of it which tipped the scales at 27 lbs. This is attested to by Jerry V. Hall, of Farmersville, Texas.

Eleven-year-old Mark Pride of Dallas, Ore., just fooling around, caught a lunker-size fish on bubble gum but the line broke. Mark was almost in tears over the loss when the fish blew a bubble and floated to the surface where the young angler happily netted it.

And what about the angler who dropped his fizzy headache remedy over the side of his boat? As the tablet fizzled and bubbled to the bottom, a curious bass gulped it down. In a moment, the fish bloated with gas, floated to the surface, and was caught. It weighed 11 lbs. over the Michigan state record, but James A. O. Crowe of the Detroit News said it was disqualified because it wasn't caught by rod, reel and line.

What Scale?

Jim Kubicek, of Fountain City, Wis., solved the mercury pollution problem by hanging his fish tail down in a freezer set at 20°. When the mercury dropped, Jim cut off the tails, eliminating the mercury. He then put the tails in boiling water, skimmed off the mercury, and sold it to a thermometer company.

C.A. Office Gives Tips on Rental Agents

The California Department of Consumer Affairs has tips on new changes in the law relating to "advance fee rental agents". These agents supply information on available rental housing.

Often they do business under such names as "House Hunter", or "Apartment Finders". Their services consist mainly of supplying lists of available rental units in a given area, for which there is a fee charged.

The changed regulation requires agents to place any amount over $10 they receive in a trust account. This amount is returnable to the consumer if a rental is not obtained through the services of the agent. However the consumer must ask for return within 10 days of expiration of the contract.

A consumer is entitled to a full refund if he can show that an agent supplied information that was not current or accurate and if therefore no rental was obtained through the agent.

ID Now Needed For License Info

Telephone access to motor vehicle registration information faces tough new restrictions, State Motor Vehicles Director Herman Sillas announced.

In the future, he said, anyone requesting information from vehicle registration files must have an "Identifer Number" which will be assigned by DMV to those persons with a proven, legitimate need for the information. This requirement will not extend to requestors identified as representing federal, state or local governmental agencies.

Sillas said that bonded monthly accounts, such as auto dealers and insurance companies, already have been issued requestor code numbers which they will continue to use as identifiers when requesting information by phone. Members of the press will continue to receive the information they need by phoning the Department Information Office.

Crime Consideration

Director Sillas said tightened restrictions were necessitated by a rash of recent claims that the readily available registration information could be construed as an invitation to criminal activities. Legislation which would restrict the availability of the information has been introduced in the Assembly, he said.

Legitimate users of the information may apply for "Identifier Numbers" upon proof of identification and justification for the need. Such users who are now known to DMV will continue to receive the telephone service without interruption for 30 days but they are being advised that the service will not be available after 30 days without an identifier number.

Private citizens who urgently need names and addresses based on vehicle license plate information can usually get this service by calling on local law enforcement agencies for assistance.

Sillas added that attorneys will be permitted to obtain the necessary information by using their Bar Card number as an identifier pending their application for a DMV code number.

Battery-Powered Cars by 1983, Says Caltrans

Revelations about our transportational future were made recently in the California Department of Transportation's "Delphi Study", a research project made to identify the likely major trends in society and transportation over the next thirty years.

Among the forecasts growing out of the study were these:

- Battery-powered automobiles will begin to serve as economic replacement for today's car engines by 1983.
- Private cars would be banned from the centers of California's major cities by 1983.
- Free rapid transit would be available to people in California's larger cities by 1995.
- Automated highways won't appear in California within the next thirty years.
